

Dear Agents:

Thanks for your interest in NextHome Valleywide!

As active real estate practitioners for some 25 plus combined years, we have found ourselves in every type of company and almost every role in real estate. We've experienced it all: a smaller local brokerage, a large national franchise, a start-up investment based company. Throughout our journey, we were driven by a constant search to find a better way to practice real estate, a better way to provide genuine value to our clients and agents.

We eventually became broker/owners of our own independent boutique brokerage and began to build the ideal real estate company. Our vision was clear; however, we soon discovered that creating what we could see so clearly in our mind's eye would take more resources than we had alone. Our search continued and everywhere we looked we found the same tools, the same marketing, the same mindset, the same old-school franchises trying to keep pace with the rapidly changing real estate landscape. We were searching for something more. And then we found NextHome--or more accurately, NextHome found us.

Like most, our mail is sorted over the recycling bin. This envelope caught our attention. Clean. Crisp. Modern. We wanted to know more, and it wasn't long before we were certain we were home, that we had truly found what we had been looking for all those years. From the distinctive, fresh branding to leading edge technology, first rate corporate leadership and client-centric marketing and tools . . . it was everything we were trying to create on our own. Just more awesome, and with a cute dog named Luke!

What about you? Are you looking for something more?

We invite you to explore our website, give us a call, sit down with us over a cup of coffee. We're confident you will find your real estate home at NextHome Valleywide.

Regards,
